Farmers Plan $1,000,000 Plant To Give District of Columbia Cheaper Milk

LOCAL DEALERS GET PLAME FOR FILTHY PRODUCT

Producers Have Lowered Price
But Distributors Keep It Up, Is Claim.

CONGRESS TO GET FACTS Sensational Testimony Anent Couging Is Promised at House Committee Hearing.

The opening in Washington of a distributing plant which would retail milk at four or five cents a quart lower than the prevailing price is being considered by the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers' Association.
It was learned last night.

The establishment of such a plant, involving more than $1,000,000 is expected to be the chief topic of discussion at the next meeting of the organization.

Failure of the Washington milk dealers to cooperate with the association, it is understood, has made farmers dissatisfied with the present method of distributing Maryland and Virginia milk.

Congress Forced to Action.

Thomas E. McLaughlin, general manager of the association, last night declared that the association would probably be forced to do this if Congress fails to pass the new milk bill which provides tuberculosis test for cows.

"If the Washington market is thrown open to milk of all kinds from everywhere in the United States, then the nearby farmers must take steps to protect themselves," said McLaughlin. "The opening of the market would bring in such competition that our only course would be to distribute our own milk."

McLaughlin admitted that if the farmers did their own distributing the cost of milk in Washington would be considerably reduced. He also pointed out that members of this association produce milk from tuberculin tested cows and that every safeguard is thrown about the milk sent to Washington.

In the opening of a distributing plant only one pasteurizing equipment would be necessary. There are now pasteurizers in every dairy in Washington. The farmers, he said, would be able to offer a good quality of milk at a price materially lower than the present cost.

Filthy Milk Cheaper.

McLaughlin declared that local dealers, if they were permitted to buy milk from farms that have not been inspected by the District and on which there are cows that have not been tuberculin tested, could purchase the commodity cheaper than the present wholesale price.

J. J. Barbour, attorney for the association, will appear before a subcommittee of the House District Commission tomorrow morning. McLaughlin and others also will testify. The committee is holding hearings on the new milk bill, drawn up by Dr. William C.
Fowler, District Health Officer.

Sensational Charges Expected.

Sensational disclosures and charges are expected to be made by representatives of the association, when the subcommittee of the House District Commission tomorrow morning. McLaughlin and others also will testify. The committee is holding hearings on the new
milk bill, drawn up by Dr. William C.
Fowler, District Health Officer.

Heretofore members of the Producers Association have been charged with keeping up the cost of milk.
It is expected that Mr. Barbour and others will testify that the farmer has considerably reduced his profit in the last year and that the milk distributors in Washington have made only a slight, if any, reduction in their profits.

The association also will place its case squarely in favor of both the tuberculin test of cows and the pasteurization of all milk. The Washington dealers are opposed to the tuberculin test.

tion by the lodge, No. 128.

The lodge has a drive for 5,000 new members and Clarence Lin-

DR. BIANCHI GIVEN COVETED PORTFOLIO

Guatemala to the United States during the last year.

bill, which has been favorably reported by the committee, and will be under a special rule, it is hoped, come to a vote within the next few days. Some of the most eminent advocates of the bill who have been aiding Congressman Dyer, it is expected, will speak at this time.

The colored people throughout the country, as well as in the District of Columbia, are making a special effort to muster their friends in Congress to a support of the measure when it comes to a vote.

Agricultural and Post Office Departments, which is studying the possibilities of utilizing the air mail radio stations of the Post Office Department for broadcasting market and weather reports by wireless telephone.

D. C. COMMITTEE READY TO HEAR TRACTION PLAN

Offer of Five-Cent Fare on Car Lines Interests Congressmen.

An executive session of the House District Committee is expected to be called this week to hear the offer of representatives of a nationally known corporation to purchase and operate the gas, electric and street railway companies of Washington.

Informal conferences on the proposition were held last week. Congressman William C. Hammer of North Carolina and Congressman Stanley H.
Kunz of Illinois both express themselves as "interested" in the project.

"Until I hear all of the details of the proposition, I cannot express an opinion as to whether it is practical," declared Mr. Hammer yesterday. "It may only be a wild dream. But I want to know its possibilities before I pass it up."

The House District Committee will hold its regular meeting Wednesday morning. Congressman Hammer at this time will probably seek a closed session and invite the representatives of the national corporation to explain their proposition.

The closed session will be held, it is believed, in order that "paid lobbists" be prevented from learning the details of the proposition and beginning a movement to defeat it.

The plan is looked upon with skepticism throughout the city. The opinion is expressed that under the Constitution Congress could not work out such a proposition.

Several members of the House, however, seem to think differently. It is understood that, in event the proposition is received favorably, a bill providing for the condemnation of public utilities corporations and their purchase by a holding company will be introduced into the House. The "selling point" of the corporation's proposition is a guarantee of a 5-cent fare and lower electric and gas rates. These features of the plan are creating interest among members of Congress.

The name of the corporation presented this offer is still clouded with secrecy. However, it was learned internally that a large electric company is involved. The corporation is said to possess "ample funds" to handle such a project.

Legion Post to Present Shakespearean Drama

Under the auspices of the George Washington Post No. 1, of the American Legion, the pioneer post of the Shakespearean Society of Washington will present "The Merchant of Venice" at Gonzaga Hall for the two evenings, November 25 and 26. The entire proceeds above cost of the play and incidental expenses will be given to the post.

The leading part in the play will be portrayed by Charles B. Hanford, America's foremost Shakespearean actor and a member of the George Washington Post.
He will play Shylock.

Rev. Earl Wilfey, pastor of the Vermont Avenue Christian Church; John M. Kline, Washington's well-known actor and for several years Mr. Han-ford's leading man and prominent with the Columbia Theater; Pol's and Hubert-Garrick, stock companies.

Ben Greet players; C. E. Ruebman, Arthur J. Rhodes, Dr. E. V. Wilcox, Lawrence Dwayne, Elton B. Taylor, L. W. Harvey, J. N. Bonum, Miss Lulu G. Adams, Miss Vietta Drono, and Mrs. Mable Owen Wilcox, dramatic director of the Shakespeare So-

Quiz of Accountants To Be Held Nov. 17-18

The first national examination of certified public accountants, with a view of determining their fitness to receive degrees and membership in the national association, will be held November 17 and 18. It was announced yesterday.

Heretofore accountants merely have been licensed by the various States without first having had a diploma establishing their ratings as such. The proposed examination will follow closely that admitting lawyers to the bar.
Much of the quiz will be oral.

CLEAR SKY PROBABLE FOR ARMISTICE DAY

Weather Bureau Predicts Good Weather for Week, With Lower Temperatures.

Armistice Day will probably bring fair weather, according to present indications.

The Weather Bureau prediction is for generally fair weather during the week. The temperature will remain low, with possibly killing frost tonight.

While the weather will be generally fair in the District during the coming week there may be a shower on one day," stated the forecaster. "As to Armistice Day nothing definite can be promised this early. From indications it will probably be fair and cool.
This, of course, is subject to revision later and is in no way an official forecast."

The temperature will drop tonight, the minimum probably being about 35. This will probably mean frost on surfaces which radiate their heat and so lower their temperature regardless of the atmospheric temperature.
The wind will die down tonight and tomorrow will be warmer.

Cadets To Drill for Armistice Day Place

A competitive drill to decide which of the three cadet companies of the Georgetown University R. O. T. C. will carry the colors in the parade on Armistice Day in honor of the burial of an unknown American soldier, will be held on the Hilltop the afternoon of November 10.

Since only 250 picked men from the battalion will be permitted to march in the great procession there is keen rivalry among the corps of cadets.

Miss Margaret Gorman, winner of beauty prizes and whose brother is a student at the college, will present the colors to the winning company.
In addition individual honors will be bestowed.

noon at Calvary Methodist Episcopal Church, November 14 to 17.

At each of the evening services there will be some attractive novelty featured. On November 15 there will be exercises by the boys and girls of the Baptist Home for Children, the ladies of the Baptist Home for the Aged being the special guests.
On November 16 a procession of 200

Women's National Foundation, to be Reports received at the organization's headquarters during the past week show increasing interest in the foundation's work. November 15 will be celebrated as national organization day, when thousands of women will organize to undertake the civic and welfare work in their respective communities.

will be for the purchase of uniforms.

Grateful Nation Will Honor Unknown Dead

Dead—a ceremony symbolic of a grateful nation's tribute to her fallen—takes place at Arlington Cemetery on Armistice Day, Friday, November 11.

The oration at the grave will be delivered by the Commander-in-Chief, President Harding.

Destined to remain forever unidentified, through the manner of his selection in France, this soldier will continue to be the son of America and the brother of all its citizens.

The cruiser Olympia, flagship of Admiral George Dewey at Manila is being used to bring the body home, the Washington navy yard being its destination. It is expected the Olympia will arrive at Washington Wednesday, and when the cruiser docks the body will be received by a major general of the army and a guard of honor, consisting of a detachment of cavalry and appropriate body bearers.

The body will be borne im-

SPEAKERS TO URGE D. C. SUFFRAGE BILL

Measure Probably Will Be Reported to Congress After Hearing on Tuesday.

All arrangements have been made for the thirty or more speakers who will represent the national press committee for D. C. suffrage, at the hearing next Tuesday, before the Senate District of Columbia Committee on the Polindexter-Reed and Capper-Zihl-man District suffrage bills, according to Col. Winfield Jones, president of the national press committee.

Practically every organization in Washington, labor, veterans and women committees affiliated with the national press committee, with an approximate membership of 200,000, which is slightly less than the potential voting strength of the District, given at 205,000 by the Census Bureau, will be represented at the hearing.

It is believed that the Senate committee, soon after the hearing, will report either the Capper-Zihlman bill or the Polindexter-Reed bill granting a delegate to the District of Columbia.
There is little doubt in the minds of the advocates of District suffrage that the December session of Congress will grant some sort of representative government. If it is done the District will elect a delegate to Congress at the congressional election next November.

Religious Education School To Open At "Y"

The school of religious education of the Y. M. C. A. will open for its third season tomorrow. The course consists of three years' work and credits will be given by George Washington University. Classes will be given in the following subjects: all classes in the Calvary Baptist Sunday School house, Eighth and H streets northwest: Psychology, pedagogy, early church history, later church history, Old and New Testament interpretation, life of Paul, comparative religion, public speaking, poets as religious teachers, music, biblical archaeology, personal development, apocryphal literature, funda-mentals of Christianity, church and Sunday school officers, social ethics, and history of missions.

Greeters to Give Annual Ball Wednesday Night

Vaudeville performers, grand opera stars and local talent have been booked to enliven the second annual dance of the Greeters of America at the Raleigh Hotel ball room next Wednesday night. Dance music will be furnished by the Shoreham Hotel orchestra under Sidney Seidenman, director.

TAKES RED CROSS POST.

Edward Stuart, for several years connected with the operations of the American Red Cross in Europe, has been appointed director of disaster relief service at National Red Cross headquarters, succeeding J. H. Mc-Candless, resigned. Before coming to Washington Mr. Stuart was with the Rockefeller Foundation commission in France and the League of Red Cross Societies in Switzerland.
